

At PACK EXPO International, BW Packaging is expanding manufacturing capability

Helping manufacturers create lasting value through smarter automation, proven industry expertise and lifetime support

ST. LOUIS — Sept. 23, 2026 — This year at PACK EXPO International, BW Packaging, Barry Wehmiller's global packaging machinery company, is showing off how they help customers Expand Manufacturing Capability through their innovative new solutions. For the first time, this packaging industry leader will feature a full packaging line of their equipment at Booth S-2100 at Pack Expo International, Oct. 18–21 at McCormick Place in Chicago.

Long known for engineering excellence, speed, precision and innovation, BW Packaging is bringing its expertise together to provide integrated packaging solutions from a single partner. Visitors will see bag filling, sealing, labeling, case erecting, robotic case packing and robotic palletizing operating as one connected system.

At the top of each hour, the line will run product and showcase the efficiency of working with BW Packaging across the operation. Equipment featured in the line includes:

- Hayssen ISB Vertical Form-Fill-Sealer with the innovative OpView™ HMI
- SWF CE 35X Case Erector
- Nigrelli Flexi-packer Case Packer
- SWF CS 35X Case Sealer
- Harland PA1000 Labeler
- BW Packaging Robotic Case Palletizer

Experts representing each technology will be available to explain the process, answer questions and discuss individual packaging needs.

Explore the Breadth of BW Packaging Solutions Beyond the Full Line

The operating full line is just one of many solutions BW Packaging will showcase at PACK EXPO International. Whether you are interested in rigid, flexible, labeling, converting or end-of-line technologies, numerous experiences and experts will be available to help identify the right solution for your application.

The booth will feature interactive displays that allow visitors to build a packaging line by market or product and explore a variety of packaging applications through live samples.

Product experts will be on hand to help manufacturers understand their options for standalone equipment, full lines, their lifetime aftermarket support options and more.
